Follow-up activity

Play What did she say? with the class. This is a fluency activity that practises reported speech. Organise the children into groups of three. The first child makes a statement: e.g. I like chicken. The whole group respond with: What did she say? The second child reports what was said: e.g. She said that she likes chicken. The third child now says a different statement and the first student reports it, and so on.
